A request for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, including the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e), was filed in this application after final rejection. Since this application is eligible for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, and the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e) has been timely paid, the finality of the previous Office action has been withdrawn pursuant to 37 CFR 1.114. Applicant's submission filed on February 20, 2009 has been entered.

Applicant argues that claims 28-32 were improperly restricted because they are not independent of the claims being examined. This argument is not convincing, as the claims are also properly restrictable if the inventions are distinct, which in this case they are (see MPEP § 802.01(II)).

The requirement is still deemed proper and is therefore made FINAL.

The drawings are objected to under 37 CFR 1.83(a). The drawings must show every feature of the invention specified in the claims. Therefore, the "rubber separation knobs" must be shown or the feature(s) canceled from the claim(s). No new matter should be entered.

Corrected drawing sheets in compliance with 37 CFR 1.121(d) are required in reply to the Office action to avoid abandonment of the application. Any amended replacement drawing sheet should include all of the figures appearing on the immediate prior version of the sheet, even if only one figure is being amended. The figure or figure number of an amended drawing should not be labeled as "amended." If a drawing figure is to be canceled, the appropriate figure must be removed from the replacement sheet, and where necessary, the remaining figures must be renumbered and appropriate changes made to the brief description of the several views of the drawings for consistency. Additional replacement sheets may be necessary to show the renumbering of the remaining figures. Each drawing sheet submitted after the filing date of an application must be labeled in the top margin as either "Replacement Sheet" or "New Sheet" pursuant to 37 CFR 1.121(d). If the changes are not accepted by the examiner, the applicant will be notified and informed of any required corrective action in the next Office action. The objection to the drawings will not be held in abeyance.

The amendment filed February 20, 2009 is objected to under 35 U.S.C. 132(a) because it introduces new matter into the disclosure. 35 U.S.C. 132(a) states that no amendment shall introduce new matter into the disclosure of the invention. The added material which is not supported by the original disclosure is as follows: "rubber separation knobs".

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 21, 27, 36, and 37 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Claim 21 is indefinite as it is unclear what structure is intended to be recited thereby: any solid material is considered "preformed" since it has a form to begin with and the particular configuration which allows the articles to separate the buttocks is unclear. Claims 27, 36, and 37 are indefinite because it is unclear what, if any further structure is recited thereby, as the indication of operability for various purposes does not confer any structure.

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless --

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

Claims 13, 14, 21, 27, 33, 35-37, and 39 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being clearly anticipated by Rosenberg.

The tape of Rosenberg is considered to be “crescent shaped” in that it is in an arcuate configuration Claims 13-15, 19, 21, 27, 33-37, and 39 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being clearly anticipated by DeMarco.

DeMarco teaches a crescent shaped element (see e.g. Figure 2) wherein the protrusions at each end are considered tabs with adhesive along surface 40.

Claims 13-15, 19, 21, 27, 33-37, and 39 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being clearly anticipated by Diaz.

Diaz teaches adhesive elements which are crescent shaped and have tabs (see Figure 3, element 28). When combined with the supports of Figure 2 therein, the combined structure has adhesive on only part of the surface.

Claims 13-15, 19, 21, 27, 33-37, and 39 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(c) as being clearly anticipated by Valentin.

Valentin teaches a pair of crescent shaped members (see Figure 7) with tabs and adhesive.

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claim 38 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Rosenberg, DeMarco, Diaz, or Valentin. Rosenberg, DeMarco, Diaz, or Valentin all teach devices such as claimed except for the rubber separation knobs. It would have been obvious to the artisan of ordinary skill to employ rubber separation knobs on the devices of Rosenberg, DeMarco, Diaz, or Valentin since such knobs are known to provide better frictional engagement with compliant surfaces to which they are applied, thus producing a device such as claimed.

Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 13-15, 19, 21, 27, and 33-39 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.
